July 2016

Potters Northside purchasers Yvonne and Alfred can't wait to move into their dream home, after living locally in Pakenham for many years.

It was Potters Northside's sprawling parklands and picturesque views that initially caught the couple's attention as they drove through the neighbourhood.

Having spent what seemed like forever hunting for the perfect home, the combination of the development's superior modern style of living, and the familiarity of the local area meant the couple couldn't resist!

"We've wanted to downsize for some time now, and we loved the size and the feel of Potters Northside."

"It was important for us to buy close by, because we really appreciate the homely feel of the area, as well as the abundant natural setting.

"We couldn't be more pleased with our purchase and we're eager for building to start in July," said Yvonne.

The Potters Northside estate is already budding into a thriving community before construction has even begun, with Yvonne and Alfred already bonding with other excited couples whilst inspecting their future home site.

The pair plans to spend their days taking in their home's charming surroundings, with the idyllic countryside feel and location that's still only a short drive away from the CBD as another benefit they love about their new community.

"Potters Northside provides us with a serene escape from the hustle and bustle of city living without actually being too far removed from inner Melbourne." said Yvonne.
